The Wellness Workdays Dietetic Internship (WWDI) program offers a unique distance education-based program, designed to meet the individual needs and interests of a group of dynamic, inspiring individuals seeking to become Registered Dietitians with a focus on wellness, health promotion, and disease prevention.

The WWDI program allows interns to complete their supervised practice requirements in their local setting using sites and preceptors of their choice. Part-time and full-time options are available. Prospective interns are required to find qualified preceptors in the areas of clinical nutrition (400 hours), food service management (180 hours), community nutrition (180 hours) and WWDI concentration (240 hours) to complete their requirements.

WWDI PROGRAM CONCENTRATIONS:

WORKSITE WELLNESS AND HEALTH PROMOTION

A concentration in Worksite Wellness and Health Promotion addresses an emerging field in dietetics. Students will learn how to design and deliver strategic worksite wellness programs that target both at-risk and healthy populations. This concentration provides an opportunity to gain experience in assessing an employee population, developing an implementation strategy and evaluating the effectiveness of a wellness program.

SPORTS NUTRITION AND ENTREPRENEURSHIP

The Sports Nutrition and Entrepreneurship concentration addresses a popular and growing field in dietetics. Students will be exposed to various athletic populations, apply nutrition skills to meet the needs of their athletic performance and learn about and analyze the effectiveness of performance enhancing supplements and ergogenic products. In addition, the intern will be exposed to the creation of a business proposal, marketing and program materials for athletes.

NUTRITION COMMUNICATIONS AND MARKETING

The Nutrition Communications and Marketing concentration addresses important skills for a Registered Dietitian to master in order to effectively promote health and wellness. Interns will learn how to use communications and marketing skills combined with their nutrition knowledge to reach and educate various populations on nutrition and wellness topics.

TIPS FOR SECURING ROTATION SITES

1. When contacting a site, research who is in charge of the nutrition department or education programs. Examples: Clinical Nutrition Manager, RD, Head Health Professional or HR/Education Personnel.
2. Explain to the contact that you are a student planning to apply for a distance dietetic internship and need to secure preceptors /supervisors for the various rotations. Ask if s/he is willing to take on a dietetic intern for all or some of the required hours.
3. Ask your DPD director, research online and ask former interns for ideas on potential sites.
4. Many sites already have a regular influx of students from set locations. Do not get discouraged, start early and be flexible in your location and choices.
5. Be persistent! Struggling to secure a site? Upon acceptance into the WWDI program gain access to an expansive network of preceptors and locations.
